

BULLET-IN

EDITORIAL

2002-10-12

EFRA is going live on the net. This way of communication has proven to be the fastest way to spread information and is helpful to make our European drivers more aware of our racing scene.

This EFRA-News part (area) will work fully coordinated within the official www.efra.se site and everything official will be posted from www.efra.se institutional part (area), main focus of EFRA-News will be races and racers trying to carry out anything new towards our community.

Discussion forums will not be the issue, to argue about things on the net is a non worth effort, normally the result of those discussions are angry feelings and ugly situations, we, EFRA, have a pretty good way to improve rules and it has been proved to be very reliable.

Main issue will be races in different classes all over Europe, mainly EFRA events, coverage will be done as well on EFRA endorsed events like IFMAR events, but it is open as well for those international races with interest for the European scene.

Editor letters will be under the line of "Bullet-in" giving a short resume of featuring inside or an scoop over any important point if felt necessary.

A clear presentation of what is new with publishing date is on the front page so your visit to our site will be always friendly and easy.

The last line in the index will be for our Advisory Associate Members, a full list of links to their sites on a small payback of their goodwill help towards our organization. Visit them frequently, they are some of the best producers in our world.

We hope sincerely to help everyone in Europe to keep on racing

Yours
Carlos Gomez
